

YOUNG WOMAN INSTANTLY KILLED IN MOTORCYCLE-AUTOMOBILE CRASH HERE EARLY THIS MORNING; HUSBAND HURT

Mrs. Olive Altmeier, 25, Sustains Fracture of The Skull
— Henry Altmeier Treated and Returns Home —
Two Were Riding Motorcycle—Driver of Car,
Bernard C. Reilly, Suffers From Shock

A woman was instantly killed, and her husband narrowly escaped a similar fate early this morning, when their motorcycle crashed into an automobile on Route 13 at the lower entrance to the Bristol Cemetery.

The victim:
Mrs. Olive Altmeier, 25, of Second and Steele avenues, West Bristol.

The injured:
Henry Altmeier, husband of the deceased.

Altmeier suffered bruises and contusions of the face and forehead. He was treated at Harriman Hospital and discharged.

Deputy coroner J. Alfred Rigby, Cornwallis Heights, had the body of Mrs. Altmeier removed from Harriman Hospital to the funeral home of Robert C. Ruehl.

According to Altmeier he and his wife were taking a pleasure ride when the accident occurred at about 1:45 this morning. Mrs. Altmeier, seated on the rear of the motorcycle, was thrown clear of the machine when it struck the rear of an automobile operated by Bernard Charles Reilly, 18, son of Constable James Reilly, Rogers Road.

The car operated by Reilly, and the motorcycle driven by Altmeier were both proceeding east on Bristol Pike. Altmeier says that Reilly attempted to make a left-hand turn into the Bristol Cemetery at the lower entrance. The motorcycle struck the rear of the Reilly car and was considerably damaged. The Reilly car, owned by Constable Reilly, was only slightly damaged.

S. Langhorne To Have Street Signs Improved

SOUTH LANGHORNE, May 8—Plans were made by South Langhorne councilmen at a meeting on Thursday evening to have street signs here painted, and those which need straightening given attention. The council also ordered a survey made of street lights, and if such can be cared for by the electric company additional lights will be placed.

Joseph Keating presided, and others present were: John Vogt, Charles Briege, John Lappan, Edward McHugh, and Frank Sodano. The secretary in charge of minutes was Mrs. Maud Stanford. The session was held in the old school building.

There were no reports from street or finance committees.

It was reported that $265.75 in real estate taxes was turned over to the county commissions. On the 21st of last December there was outstanding in taxes the sum of $783.85, and since that date $231.60 has been collected. There remains a balance of $286.50 in occupation tax yet to be collected on the 1942 duplicate. The tax collector asked for supply of notices for delinquent taxes.

Bids were received for collection of ashes and rubbish, and contract was awarded to Ferdinand Reetz, of Hulmeville. The collections are to be made twice monthly, dates yet to be set.

STUDENTS AIDING IN HARVESTING OF THE SPRING CROPS

Bristol and Bensalem High, and George School
Pupils Busy

ON A PART-TIME BASIS

Cut Asparagus and Spinach, Pull Rhubarb; To Im- port Jamaicans

Under a plan to enlist students for part-time employment, approximately 125 girls and boys from Bristol and Bensalem high schools, and from George School, Newtown, are aiding in harvesting of spring crops at the King Farms, near Morrisville.

With 45 Bristol high school students engaged six hours a day, 50 from George School approximately the same number of hours, and 25 Bensalem high pupils also busy at the task, asparagus, spinach and rhubarb are being harvested.

These students who are on a part-time basis, are working only in the fields, other employees being in charge of the cleaning and packing.

Various systems are used by the three schools, with Bristol students working from eight a. m. to three p. m., daily, and after a period of one week being replaced by another group. George School students attend school sessions during the morning hours, then start work at one p. m. Bensalem students also are employed during the afternoon hours.

Asparagus and spinach are cut, and rhubarb pulled, as the young folks get their share of sunshine and fresh air, and also harden their muscles.

King Farm trucks call at the various communities to transport these part-time workers.

The enlistment of student help was brought about due to the labor shortage. King Farms have fewer adult employees than usual, only about 500 being engaged there at present, a representative stated.

The student labor is entirely upon a volunteer basis, with parental consent being necessary. The students from Bristol high who have been engaged this week make up a few sections of 10th grade. Next week a different group will replace them, with those who have been busy in the fields this week returning to the classrooms.

Some other Bristol high pupils are working on other farms in this area, cutting asparagus, but return

SCHOOL TAX RATE SET AT 19 MILLS IN PROPOSED BUDGET

Board is Faced With Anticipated Deficit of $23,000 at End of June This Year

PER CAPITA TO STAND

Plan is To Liquidate Half of Deficit in Fiscal Year 1943-1944

Shortly before last midnight the Bristol Public School Board adopted a tentative budget for the next fiscal school year calling for a tax rate of 19 mills. This is an increase of three mills over the present rate. The per capita tax of four dollars remains the same.

There was considerable discussion at the meeting over the budget and the board was in session from 7:30 last night until about 12:30 morning.

The proposed tax rate is anticipated to liquidate about half of an anticipated $23,000 deficit which is likely to exist at the end of the present fiscal year. This, of course, is providing some unforeseen big expense is not thrown upon the board.

The total expenditures are listed as amounting to $189,915, while the anticipated receipts from taxes are given as $116,809 for properties, and $15,000 per capita tax. Delinquent taxes previous to 1943 are expected to bring in $17,000. The state appropriation will be about $24,000, and tuition of non-resident pupils will amount to $7,000.

Anticipated expenses are listed as follows: General control, $10,105; instructional service, $19,060; auxiliary agencies and co-ordinate activities, $1200; operation of plant, $18,525; maintenance of plant, $5,975; fixed charges, $5,075; debt service, $19,450; and capital outlay, $625.

French Forces Capture Pont Du Fahs

Allied Headquarters in North Africa—French forces have captured the important Axis base of Pont Du Fahs, 35 miles southwest of Tunis, to augment the victory of British and American armies which seized the Tunisian capital and the naval base of Bizerte. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced today as remnants of the Axis legions were being pressed eastward to the sea.

The French capture of Pont Du Fahs indicated that the once-vaunted Afrika Korps, confronted on the south by the powerful British Eighth Army, had begun a withdrawal in the direction of Cap Bon following collapse of German and Italian resistance in the north.

Military sources in London said it was believed that battered remnants of two or three German divisions were completely cut off from escape between Bizerte and Tunis. These forces have little possibility of getting away across the sea or fleeing temporarily out of range up the Cap Bon Peninsula.

The fleeing Axis legions were continuously battered by intense Allied aerial assaults in which bombs and machine-gun bullets were showered down upon enemy troop concentrations congesting roadways.

The Allied air arm, guarding against any attempt by the Axis to evacuate its forces by sea, struck tremendous blows against enemy shipping. The sinking of 44 Axis vessels, including two destroyers, was announced in Gen. Eisenhower's communique.

MOTHER'S DAY

Observance of Mother's Day is more than the celebration of an anniversary. Its significance is not limited to mothers alone. It is a day for every one, a day on which one can express the realization that all that one is, or may ever hope to be, is due largely to the inspiration of one's mother. A particular poignancy attaches to the day now, since so many sons have gone to war, and so many mothers are bereft of the consolation of a complete family circle to cheer the celebration of the day.

Mother's Day in America this year finds most mothers doing something for the war effort. They are aiding the Red Cross, participating in civilian defense or working in war industries. Mothers are no longer content to sit placidly. They may be separated from their sons, but spiritually at least they are shoulder to shoulder with them. They are working to back their soldier sons with home support.

Harassed by the troubles of war, the thoughts of Americans turn more and more, particularly on Mother's Day, to the home as the foundation of democracy. The home circle is the mother circle. It is one of the greatest bulwarks of American democracy. The strong hold of family life on the American citizen will not permit a rule of totalitarianism.

TAXPAYER SOCKED AGAIN

There's no use crying over spilled cement, but it looks as if the taxpayers of the United States took a beating in spending such vast sums for good roads. According to Ivor I. Sikorsky, the Russian-born aeronautical engineer, who achieved fame in airplane designing and in pioneering in the helicopter field, there will be a million helicopters, or "fliers of the air," built in the ten years following the war.

Sikorsky is quoted as saying that "if the helicopter had been invented years ago people never would have bothered with so tremendously complicated a mechanism as the automobile."

If the helicopter proves popular to the extent that a million of them will be sold in the ten years after the war, one is led to believe that their numbers will go on increasing until their own density in the atmosphere puts into effect some kind of law of diminishing returns for the operators.

Sikorsky sees the helicopter as the flier of the future with the plane taking the role of truck, bus and train. The helicopter can take off from any space twenty or twenty feet, he says, and can rise from a back yard or a roof top, whereas large and speedy airplanes can fly only from terminal to terminal.

While Sikorsky evidently didn't discuss the matter, the shipment of farm crops probably will continue to be by truck or train, although a helicopterful of cabbage flown to market today would pay off a fair-sized mortgage. Then there always will be persons who will prefer travel on the ground even in a complicated automobile.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

day-a-week guarantee, which, by moving the miners into the time-and-a-half pay zone, would mean a substantial wage increase. This Mr. Ickes already has inaugurated, and at the end of the "truce" it may be permanently provided as a condition under which the operators get their property back. Or, perhaps the "portal-to-portal" pay already endorsed by Mr. Murray of the CIO, will be provided. Or some other form of concession may be worked out.

AT LEAST, these are the expectations and probabilities. If they materialize they will give Mr. Lewis the substance of victory. They will increase very greatly his prestige and leave the Government in the humiliating position of having been held up and forced to deliver by a labor leader, who first forced it to take over the mines and then to make concessions. Whatever device is adopted to save the Administration's face, concessions mean that Mr. Lewis wins. And concessions already have been made. How under these conditions that already warring line, which the President directed Mr. Byrnes to hold, is to be held, is anything but clear.

THERE ARE those who think that the President appreciates this danger fully and that for a double reason he will direct Mr. Ickes not to yield. First, because yielding would open the door to the CIO and AFL demands, which are being withheld until the outcome of Mr. Lewis' fight is seen; second, because he cannot without loss of personal dignity and prestige permit Mr. Lewis to get what he wants no matter how disguised. The United States Government, of course, does not have to yield to Mr. Lewis. The Administration is, or should be, strong enough to play the winning hand and not permit these labor leaders, whom Mr. Roosevelt, himself, has built up and clothed with power, to make it retreat from its announced policies. Particularly is this so when Congress has already made clear its readiness to support the President with the enactment of adequate legislation, such as the Connally anti-strike bill passed by the Senate on Wednesday.

INTO THIS critical situation one wants to inject politics. Yet, it is impossible not to recognize that there are political considerations. Organized labor is and has been the President's basic asset. As his Attorney General once said: "The New Deal is a labor party under a skilled political leader." To be ruthlessly unyielding with any organized labor group, refusing in the interest of the whole country all concessions, involves for Mr. Roosevelt the risk of losing this asset. It would be fine to see him take it and it might turn out politically to be the best thing he ever did.

Certainly it would be a crushing and convincing answer to those who allege that he is the lackey and not the master of the labor leaders.

THAT MAN IS MINE May Christie

SYNOPSIS
Beautiful Ann Foster was worried when she learned the sales force at "Marks-Park Avenue" to be reduced after the Christmas holidays. Julia, her practical minded sister, an airline stewardess on the New York-Miami run, encourages her to marry wealthy Vince Ogden, but Ann does not love him. At their small apartment she is greeted by Vince and Julia in festive holiday mood. Forgetting her worries, Ann joins Vince and Julia on a tour of the night spots. The following day at LaGuardia Airport, Julia introduces Ann to Jim Brent, handsome pilot officer en route to Florida to train cadets. Later, Ann is offered the opportunity to work at the Miami Beach branch of "Marks-Park Avenue." Vince, whose yacht, "The Pelican," is moored off Miami, accompanies her on the South-bound train. The manager, impressed with Ann's beauty, engages her as a model. Ann renews her acquaintance with Jim Brent at Mrs. Avery Willard's War Relief Tea. From Vince she learns that Jim is teaching their hostess, Lotus Willard, to fly her plane and the consensus is he will supplant Hank Brugger, society hanger-on, in the frivolous Lotus' life. Piloted by Vince and Hank, Ann sells lottery tickets on a beautiful gown donated by "Marks-Park Avenue."

CHAPTER FIVE

The band struck up a rumba again, and determinedly Hank, who loved the spotlight, whirled her out on the floor. This time, the crowd joined in. Ann thought wistfully: If only Jim Brent would cut in on us!

This time, as it wasn't a solo performance, and soulful concentration on his partner wasn't necessary, Hank's gaze swivelled about.

"To think of the millions in this room!" he sighed.

Ann purposely misunderstood him. "Three hundred and seventy-five people clocked in at $4 per entry, which makes a total of $1,500 for the charity," she corrected. "Before the party's over, maybe we'll double that."

Hank's red lips pouted. "Don't be stupid, darling. You know what I mean. It's sickening to think of the wealth here, while you and I have to work for a living!"</

CLARK, RED SKINS, PITCHES HIMSELF INTO HALL OF FAME

Brilliant Southpaw Tosses A No-Hit, No-Run Game Against Bristol High

FINAL SCORE IS 5 TO 0

Clark Set Down 15 Batters Via the Strike-Out Route

LANGHORNE, May 8.—"Kenny" Clark, brilliant southpaw of the Langhorne high school baseball team, carved himself a notch in the mythical hall of fame yesterday afternoon as he pitched a no-run, no-hit game over Bristol High on the home field.

In accomplishing his feat, Clark set down fifteen batters via the strike-out route and had an easy job of it all afternoon as the Bristol boys had difficulty in even hitting the ball out of the infield.

While Clark was setting down the Bristol batters like tenpins, the Langhorne hitters got to Joe Sagolla for three runs in the first and added two more in the fourth to make their victory certain but the way Clark was moving down the opposition, one run would have been enough.

It was the second Lower Bucks County victory for Coach Thomas' boys and Clark pitched them both. He has also hurled Langhorne to a victory over Lower Moreland. Langhorne meets both Bristol and Bensalem again before the season is over.

Bristol Athletes Will Compete Against Morrisville and George School

THREE 'VETS' ON TEAM

Lower Bucks County Meet Scheduled To Open Next Wednesday

With all hope resting on three boys, the Bristol high track team will open its season today by participating in a triangular meet with Morrisville and George School on the latter's track.

Coach Bartholomew has three veteran trackmen who can be counted upon to bring in the points. They are Paul Ruby who is entered in the high jump, shot put, and javelin throw; Joe Sagolla who runs the 100 and 200 yard dashes; and Arthur Goheen who is a one-half and a mile runner. All the remaining members of the track team are inexperienced runners.

The Lower Bucks County meet is scheduled for next Wednesday afternoon on the Morrisville track and in this meet Bristol, Langhorne, and Morrisville will be the participating teams.

Coach Clarence Bartholomew will send Ruby, Sagolla, and Goheen to the Norristown Invitation Meet next Saturday afternoon and also enter the trio in the P. L. A. meet at Upper Darby on May 22nd.

Young Woman Instantly Killed in Crash Here Today

Altmeier is employed as a carpenter by Day & Zimmerman, and is engaged in construction of a new plant for Pennsylvania Salt Company at Cornwells Heights.

Death of the woman was caused by a fracture of the skull. She had numerous bruises of the arms, but no other bones were broken.

Private Leibel of Pennsylvania State Police was the investigating officer.

Reilly, who is 18 years of age, was unhurt but suffered from shock. In October of 1941 he sustained serious injury to his hip when involved in a motor accident while riding on the running-board of an automobile. He was hospitalized for six months at that time. He states he was returning home from a roller skating rink at Croydon when the accident occurred this morning.

Reilly stated that he was assisting in placing Mrs. Altmeier in his car to take her to the hospital, when Pvt. William Alexander, brother of Mrs. Altmeier arrived on the scene, and took the Altmeiers to Harriman Hospital.

Pvt. William Alexander, who is home on furlough from Camp Vandoren, Miss., had been visiting in Philadelphia, and he and his wife were returning to Bristol when they reached the scene of the accident.

Mrs. Alexander is survived by her husband; a three-year-old daughter; her mother, Mrs. Anna Alexander; four sisters and four brothers. Her father, Elwood Alexander, met his death some time ago in Philadelphia when overcome by sewer gas as he was engaged at his work.

Funeral of the young woman is arranged for Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock at the Ruehl funeral home, 314 Cedar street. Burial will be in Bristol Cemetery, and friends may call Monday evening.

'Afternoon at Opera' Thoroughly Enjoyed

Mrs. Otto Grupp, Jr., Croydon, pleased with a vocal number, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from "Samson and Delilah" (Sansiens), and as an encore sang "A Song of Flowers" (Lane).

Selections from light operettas were offered by the Misses Rose Marie Hafele, Croydon, and Winifred Tracy, as symphony harp duets. These were "Your Land and My Land" and "Gypsy Love Song." "Moonbeams" from "Red Mill" by Victor Herbert was sung by Mrs. Bowen.

The next presentation, a comic number, was by Mrs. DeLong, who impersonated Lillian Russell, and Mrs. Neher, impersonating "Diamond Jim" Brady. Making their way from the main entrance of the club home to the platform they sang "Tell Me That You Love Me," then to the tune of "After the Ball" gave a waltz number. The costumes were reminiscent of the days of "Diamond Jim," and the actions of the "distinguished guests" provided a most amusing number.

As a piano solo, Miss Hafele played "Moment Musical" (Schubert).

The grand finale in which Japanese costumes, parasols, fans and lanterns were used most effectively, was a scene from "Madame Butterfly." The lantern dance was capably executed by Miss Tracy in colorful costume, and Mrs. Doran sang "One Fine Day." Mrs. Doran also took the solo part of "Poor Butterfly" which the chorus ably presented.

The piano accompanist for the presentations was Miss Tracy.

Tea was served under the supervision of the hospitality committee of which Mrs. Harry Pope is chairman. Mrs. Lewis M. Worthington and Mrs. Andrew T. MacArthur, hostesses for the afternoon, presided at the tea table.

Business was dispensed with, the president of the club, Mrs. E. Linton Martin, welcoming the gathering, then making brief announcements. The club will sponsor a card party on the afternoon of May 14th, with a unique entertainment and refreshments. Proceeds will be for the welfare budget.

The Junior Travel Club will be entertained at a reception on the evening of May 21st. Miss Florence Brownell will speak on current events, both national and international.
